Serbs protest over crossings in northern Kosovo

KosovoCompromise Staff

Kosovo Serbs are staging a protest of warning against UNMIK in Zubin Potok on Monday over the installing of video monitoring at the administrative crossing Brnjak in northern Kosovo.

The Kosovo Police Service (KPS) last week began the installing of police cameras at the administrative crossing of Brnjak near Zubin Potok, and KPS Spokeman Veton Elshani announced that cameras will also be placed at the administrative crossing Jarinje near Laposavic.

The installed cameras have nothing to do with customs, they are there strictly for police business, to monitor vehicles and persons doing the crossing, Elshani said, specifying that both the logistics and the people who work there are under the mandate of the international police.
